MARVIN, much-mated, but now checked-mated, makes neither matches nor checks, but serves as a shoemaker in the Virginia penitentiary.

NEXT ON THE ROYAL visiting list will be King Alfonso, who has expressed the opinion that it will be only mannerly and gallant for him to pay Queen Victoria a call, in recognition of her pretty present of a garter.

ONE OF our exchanges hazards the thought that we couldn't get away in a naval galleon with more than two or three first-class powers. This is a safe remark. If we ran foul of a fleet of Chinese junkies there wouldn't be enough of us left to warrant the call of a coroner.

OSTER STELLA and sand are both good in their right places, but the American Consul at Manchester unites with the manufacturers of that city in the opinion that when they are found hidden in a bale of cotton, the before-mentioned oyster shells and sand are decidedly out of place.

ON THIS SIDE OF THE LINE we always take up a vagrant Earl with fervor, but in Nova Scotia they take him up with a capias. At least that is the way they have served the Earl of Dunraven, who seems to have run himself into a noose by shooting a moose without a license.

AS A NEW way of paying old debts, France proposes to settle for that shocking piece of extravagance—the famous 24 of September. Louis Napoleon's coup d'etat caused much financial loss to many persons whose claims will be considered. The number of these already sent in amounts to nearly seven hundred.

PARTY AS A PICTURE is the New York Democracy of 1884, as its portrait is drawn by the prophetic and artistic Puck. Taken in this new light, the lovely creature floats upward on graceful pinions, and soaring sweetly sings: "I would be a butterfly." It is entirely too modest to want to be an angel and with the angels stand.

IT IS no particular funeral of ours, but the fact stands out in comical relief that, while the hard-money Republicans of New York are in doubts about their State ticket, they are helping out Mahone in his repudiation reform scheme. Peculiar that they never thought of giving Minnesota a lift when she was trying to pitch her bondholders out of court.

A CONGRESS of Venetian doctors has been carefully considering the effect of poisons as an article of food. This Italian Indian corn-meal is pronounced to be wholesome when in good condition and properly cooked, but it is condemned as injurious when upon exhausted soil, or allowed to mellow from improper care, it first causes scabs to appear on the head and face, and the diseased condition results in idiosyncrasy and madness.

IF THE Constitution can be relied upon, the journalists who visited the big cotton show at Atlanta, made the acquaintance of royalty. It says: "We alluded the other day to the fact that Mr. Handy, of the Philadelphia Press, had met four kings, introduced by Mr. Miller, of the New York Times. We should have added that Mr. Handy resigned his seat on the excursion train and, at the next station, called Mr. Miller's attention to four untimely queens."

SOME OF THESE DAYS we'll probably get hold of the art of preserving bodies after death, but nature is ahead of art, if you happen to catch nature under the right conditions. Out in Indiana they have just exhumed the body of a young lady who was buried twenty-two years ago. The body was in a perfect state of preservation, about the only change noticeable being a somewhat shrunken condition of the cheeks. Even the natural flowers in the coffin were as perfect as when placed there nearly a quarter of a century ago.

IT IS now whispered that the reason of the ex-Queen of Spain's intimacy with our American princess, Mrs. Mackay, was that the fair Californienne had loaned the Queen some thousands of francs, for which that lady had given her note. Monsieur Mackay attempted to collect the sum loaned, when the note became due, but her Majesty blandly informed him that she never paid such things; that she considered the debt canceled by the introductions and invitations she had given.—Exchange.

Monsieur Mackay should bathe his wife's head in ice-cold water, for if she keeps on indulging in loans to queens and "sich" on the retired list, her phreatic lord will have to hang up some collateral jewelry to get home on in about twelve months.

THE HON. A. M. CLAPP is prominently mentioned for the place of District Commissioner. If the true interests of the District are to be taken into account, no gentleman who could be named better fits the bill. He has lived here so long and studied public matters as a journalist so carefully that he has a full command of the situation. His perfect honesty and integrity have never been called in question, and he adds the happy faculty of viewing important measures of improvement through liberal eye-glasses. Mr. Clapp's appointment would be most heartily concurred in by the people of the District.

THE MOST ALARMING FEATURE of the woman's rights movement, says the Courier-Journal, is the determination of some of the so-called softer sex to make proposals of marriage. In the case of a young man who is earning but five-dollars a week a proposal of marriage would be an outrage, not only on the young man, but on posterity; yet a desperate woman might go to great lengths to secure even a five-dollar man. It is about all that mothers can do now to save their sons from the numerous eager young women who beset these inexperienced boys, and if the youngsters are to be placed entirely at the mercy of matrimonial females, it won't be long till the Republic is undermined.

WE LEARN that President Seeley, of Amherst College, has taken a new departure in the matter of college discipline, the result of which will be looked for with interest. He proposed to the students, and they have the matter under advisement, that instead of the faculty passing judgment on the offenders it shall be left to a board representing the students, to be composed of four seniors, three juniors, two sophomores and one freshman. This board is to hear the evidence and pass judgment, which, however, may be overruled by the faculty, but will have due weight as the judgment of the students. This plan may be desirable as carrying out the idea of trial by jury of one's peers, but it is just possible that the old boys in the business would recall their youthful exploits and draw the sentence wild.

SAYS THE Richmond State: It is said the South is kept poor because people raise nothing for themselves, or next to nothing, and we suspect there is a good deal of truth in this. We go in for big crops of cotton, and we grow our own next crop, whereas, if we grew our own shoes, furniture and clothing, the big crops of cotton and tobacco would be all clear gain. Do you see?

To be candid about it, we do see. The above statement is about as clearly put as words could make it. The inevitable shrinkage on a cotton crop should be made up as suggested, and the good time is coming.

IT IS SAID that President Arthur intends to wipe out polygamy in Utah. We beg to call his attention to the fact that his term expires March 4, 1885, and that there are only 313 working days in the year.

Time's Revenge. Time works its changes. Rev. Henry Highland Garnett, confirmed as minister resident of the United States at Liberia, was arrested thirty years ago as a slave, under the provisions of the fugitive slave law. And the notes of the national banks, which the people use in their daily business, bear the signature of a black man, who at one time held with dignity and honor a seat in the Senate of the United States.

Here, Too. Only professional gamblers seem to be able to carry on business without betraying signs of ownership. Extreme caution on the part of the gamblers and superstitiousness on the part of the gamblers is all that is needed to make the most stringent laws look ridiculous.

The Reason for It. For the fourth time this year the mail coach has been stopped near East Belknap, Tex., and the driver compelled to cut open the mail bags. Somebody in Texas is evidently expecting a letter from Private D. Zell.

Retains His Vitality. New York Mail. We had supposed, from reading the Sun, that Schuyler Colfax was safely buried in his private graveyard. But to-day it develops that the ex-colonel, editor of the Washington Post, is still kicking in the land of the living. S. C. Wonderful vitality of S. C.

Too Many Able Attorneys. Chicago Tribune. If the lawyers of this country were reduced to one, and each man were to have a proportionate share of the business, the Western continent would be fully as agreeable as it is at present.

Why the Bonds are Popular. Chicago Tribune. One of the attractions of the Confederate bonds is that all the coupons are on. Then, besides, they are a "permanent investment."

That Salute Analyzed. Courier-Journal. The American salute to the English flag was not altogether inconsiderable. It was two-thirds flunky and one-third policy.

The Judge and the Majah. Exchange. A new illustrated paper has appeared in New York. It is called The Judge, and it seems to be edited by "The Major."

Society a la Mode. San Francisco Wasp. In case our resume of society events should not compare in columnar magnitude with that of the daily Times, we desire to state that it is not our intention to do so. The immigrant arrivals, we are compelled to draw the line at the Pacific-street Hotel lists, and nobody who does not at least put up at the Russ can expect special personal attention. Any acquaintance with the city, however, if janitor to a lodge of Good Templars, financial agent of a habeshe, chief engineer of a faro game, or otherwise notably eminent on his native heath, can have that fact stated in his will as commensurate with us. We are determined, however, to exhibit as much key-hole enterprise in journalism as any of our contemporaries, as long as we can struggle with the consequent senescentness, and we, therefore, are proud to announce that:

Mrs. Harlan, wife of Major J. T. Harlan, of the Fourth Infantry, is at the Grand. She has separated from her husband on account of his cold feet.

Charles Mosby Juniper, the well-known tripe seller of Little Clovechman Falls, in the eastern part of Washington Territory, two doors from British Columbia, is stopping at Mrs. Cashdown's boarding-house. He has two shiny front rooms, all modern improvements, but will be there only a short time. Miss Bella Cashdown, we might remark, is no slouch herself.

The elegant Mrs. Butler will have a grand millinery opening on Kearney street to-morrow evening. A large and fashionable house is expected to transpire.

The lovely and entrancing Miss Duffy, whose famous beauty is the wonder of Shipley street, where she resides when at home, will be in the city to-morrow. It is second only to that of the Venice of Medina, in visiting her cousin, Miss Maggie O'Jaw, in Arriola Place. They both expect to attend the picnic of the W. P. C. Zouaves next Sunday, and will depart accordingly.

Mrs. S. P. Nicholson is visiting her friend Mrs. Squid at Hunter's Point. The adjacent soap factory makes her sojourn a little unpleasant, but it is cheaper for Nick. Though on pleasure bent, she hath a frugal manner.

Mrs. Featherfash is still at Monterey. Her residence on California street is being kindly looked after by the sheriff.

The Camella Club party takes place to-morrow night. The by-law is repealed and cardroom seeds in favor of Wackie's gumoline, the pearl of tooth-powders.

Cross-eyed gimps of terrier fur will be much worn in this season.

The top-eared imbecile who writes the Chronicle social muck states that Mr. Pol-wig Banks will return to the city shortly. This is another lie. He doesn't.—Call.
